Publishing Problems Threaten Eclipse of Life Magazine

Last week Life Magazine, which only last Spring cut its circulation from 8 to 7 million, announced it would make a second cut from 7 to 5 1/2 million next January.

The circulation-cutting procedure is known as "erosion"; as subscriptions expire the company refuses to renew them.

It is an ominous move for the future of one of the world's largest magazines. The same steps preceded the death of Collier's Magazine, and, more recently, the Saturday Evening Post.

But Time, Inc., which publishes Life, is stronger financially than the two that fell by the wayside, so perhaps Life will survive. At least it is making a bold try. While reducing its press run Life is asking the government for permission to increase both advertising and subscription prices.

Life's troubles were summarized by Publisher Gary Valk as:

"The proposed high postal rate increases and the limitations imposed by Phase 2 (of Wage-Price Control) compel us to make these charges at this time."

Basically the weakness of all national magazines is that they depend entirely on national advertising for profitable revenue, the revenue from circulation being eaten up by distribution costs. Newspapers in general, and particularly local papers, depend mainly on local advertising. Television wiped out most of the general magazines but had little effect on newspapers for newspapers never had much national advertising to begin with.

But it's tough when you have not only to meet the competition of television but also the arbitrary rules set up overnight by federal politicians. In World War II and the Korean War magazines and newspapers were exempt from price control, and so they survived.

The immediate picture is unclear, but it's reasonable to suppose that if the government ever heads for censorship of the press it would do so by controlling prices and wages.

We have before us the example of Juan Peron, who as Brazilian dictator muzzled his press critics by a single business ruling. Brazil has no newspaper of its own, therefore the newspapers have to import all their paper. Peron refused to let the newspapers which opposed him have any paper.

Baptists to Establish Mission Near Local Migrant Worker Center

The Hope Baptist Association will cooperate with the State Missions Department and the Home Mission Board in establishing a definite mission work near the Migrant Center, located just South of the City of Hope.

A piece of land has been leased directly across the highway from the center and a building will be erected and furnished. Various ministries are being planned.

Robert Gross from Albuquerque, New Mexico has been employed to operate the mission center full time. He is well qualified having done this type of work for the past 10 years in New Mexico. Mr. Gross and

Senate Moves Toward Control Bill Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate moved today toward almost-certain passage of a bill granting President Nixon power to control wages and prices through April 30, 1973, and providing for retroactive payment of most wage increases blocked by the pay freeze.

Most of the controversial issues were settled in the first two days of debate, but half a dozen amendments remain to be disposed of before the final vote.

The President appears certain to get from the Senate the one-year extension of the powerful authority over the economy he asked for.

Tied to it will be a retroactive pay provision at first opposed by the administration but now apparently agreeable.

Sen. John Sparkman, D-Ala., Banking Committee chairman and floor manager for the bill, said the executive branch now had sent word it was accepting the provision.

The provision, written in by the Banking panel, would get pay boosts for members of the labor force like teachers, who lost out during the freeze because the Pay Board refused to accept retroactive raises.

It calls for the increases to be paid to the extent they are not unreasonably inconsistent with the 5.5 per cent pay guidelines for Phase 2.

The most important amendment remaining to be acted on would exempt small businesses and unions from the wage-price controls after next year. It is sponsored by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis.

The Senate got into its biggest hassle on the bill Tuesday over an amendment by Sen.

Alan Cranston, D-Calif., to exempt press, broadcast and other media from wage and price controls.

The proposal first was adopted 45-40 but Republicans succeeded in switching some votes and defeated it 44-42 the second time around.

Opponents argued large salaries paid entertainers would be exempted.

The California said newspapers, radio and television will be open to "economic censorship" should the administration make economic decisions favorable to its supporters while moving against critics.

Republicans contended the constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press was not intended to insure the economic viability of newspapers or broadcasters.

Nixon Wants to Advise Allies on Developments

WASHINGTON (AP) — In his face-to-face talks with allied leaders, President Nixon wants to make sure that all are moving in the same general direction on major new international developments, from agreement on Berlin to the economic crisis.

So says Henry A. Kissinger, the President's national security affairs adviser, in explaining Nixon's rapid-fire summit parleys with five major allies before his Peking and Moscow trips.

Speaking of "a dramatic change in the international situation that has occurred in the last seven months," since Ping Pong diplomacy opened Nixon's path to Peking, Kissinger cited: Announcements of the unprecedented presidential journeys to Red China next February and to Moscow in May; last September's Big Four agreement on Berlin; the treaty returning Okinawa to Japan; Britain's forthcoming entry into the European Common Market; and "the whole economic negotiations."

So "it was essential that the leaders at the highest level meet, to make sure that their basic direction was complementary and that they understood each other," he said.

The White House announced Nixon will confer with Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau here next Monday. Nixon sees France's Georges

Pompidou in the Azores Dec. 13-14, Britain's Edward Heath at Bermuda Dec. 20-22, West Germany's Willy Brandt at Key Biscayne, Fla., Dec. 28-29, and Japan's Eisaku Sato at San Clemente, Calif., Jan. 6-7.

Economics will loom large when Nixon starts with Trudeau. Canada, America's largest trading partner, complains of heavy damage from the U.S. surtax.

The monetary dispute over dollar-devaluation and the import surtax will figure in the Azores talks, too. France has been a principal adversary of Washington's campaign for rate realignment.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A staff assistant at Cummins Prison Farm said today he had seen the youthful offender who died at Cummins Monday being dragged in an "almost indescribable manner" about the time the youth died.

Elton Ballentine, who said he was an ordained minister and served as a special services coordinator at Cummins, also testified in U.S. District Court today that he had heard that the youth, Willie E. Stewart, 17, of Little Rock, had been shot at and run down by a horse while working in the fields.

Purpose of China Visit Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key aide says President Nixon's week-long February visit to Communist China, his longest stay in any country, aims at promoting mutual understanding—not an instant settlement of the Vietnam war.

The White House announced Tuesday that Nixon and wife Pat will be in mainland China Feb. 21-28 and will visit the capital city of Peking; Shanghai, the country's largest city, and Hang Chou, a much smaller place judged a suitable site for "conversations in a less hectic atmosphere."

Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, the president's assistant for national security affairs, later had this to say about the purpose of Nixon's planned meetings with chairman Mao Tse-tung, Premier Chou En-lai and others: "There has been an agreement to discuss issues that have to do with the relaxation of tensions between the United States and the Peoples' Republic of China ... the minimum we expect to get out of this trip is a better understanding by both sides of each other's positions and a continuing means of remaining informed about these positions."

Asked if Nixon would raise the Vietnam issue, Kissinger ducked a direct reply but said: "We expect to settle the war in Indochina either through the progress of Vietnamization or direct negotiations with Hanoi."

NO PLACE or time to block traffic, but photographer Simon Trevor braces for one final shot of the chugging star for a sequence in a new film, "The African Elephant," shot in Kenya, East Africa.

Snow Seen in Weather Picture

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow is in the Arkansas weather picture.

Scattered sleet or snow is forecast for the north portion of the state today with light rain expected in the southern portion.

Precipitation will become heavier and more general tonight and Thursday with significant amounts expected over the state. The precipitation should begin tapering off Thursday night or Friday.

Northeasterly winds will keep temperatures down as was the case Tuesday. Highs today and Thursday should be in the mid to upper 30s northwest to the mid 40s in the extreme south.

Lows tonight should be near freezing in the north to near 40 in the extreme south.

Overnight lows include Fayetteville 31, Harrison 28, Jonesboro 36, Pine Bluff 38, Texarkana 39, El Dorado 39, Memphis 39, Little Rock 40 and Fort Smith 39.

We do not expect to settle it in Peking."

Kissinger also said the future of the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan would be discussed. But he added, "Our position is that the ultimate disposition, the ultimate relationship of Taiwan to the Peoples' Republic of China, should be settled by direct negotiations between Taiwan and the Peoples' Republic of China."

While saying both the United States and China have agreed to talk about ways to relax tensions between them, "there is no commitment by either side to any detailed agenda."

At another point, Kissinger said there would be "a free-wheeling nature to (the) discussions" and it is "clearly understood that each leader will be free to raise whatever topic he feels is urgent."

Bumpers Tours Industrial Area

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers said Tuesday as he toured several Magnolia industries that such trips were necessary because it was impossible to understand an area's problems by staying in Little Rock.

Bumpers earlier told students at Southern State College at Magnolia that their votes were important and that they should cast their ballots with care.

Cambodian Forces Flee Under Onslaught of North Vietnam Attacks

Pakistan Claims Attack Repulsed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pakistan army says its soldiers repulsed Indian attacks at two points on the East Pakistan border, inflicting heavy casualties on the Indians.

An army spokesman in Dacca said Tuesday night the Pakistani troops repelled an Indian attack at Chaugacha, in the Jessore district on East Pakistan's western frontier, and thwarted an Indian attempt to capture Kamalpur, in the Myemensingh sector on the north-east front.

He said the Indians, having failed to capture Kamalpur, launched a fresh attack supported by tanks and artillery Monday night on two fronts, but were thrown back.

The spokesman said the battlefield was covered with Indian dead and that the Indians tried to remove the bodies from East Pakistani territory under a covering artillery bombardment.

He also reported that Pakistani troops captured seven Indian soldiers and a quantity of arms and ammunition in Dinajpur, in East Pakistan's northern sector.

The Indian government says the fighting in East Pakistan is mainly between the Mukti Bahini, the East Pakistan independence fighters, and the West Pakistan army. New Delhi says Indian troops have crossed into East Pakistan only when attacked by the Pakistanis.

An Indian military spokesman in Calcutta said Tuesday Indian troops were still inside East Pakistan in the Balurghat-Hilli region, 200 miles north of Calcutta, where they crossed Saturday following what was described as a Pakistani artillery attack.

Calcutta, less than 30 miles from East Pakistan, went through a practice air raid Tuesday night and for half an hour was blacked out.

There was no reply from Pakistan to a call by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi of India for Pakistan to give East Pakistan independence and avoid possible war on the subcontinent.

Mrs. Gandhi told the upper house of Parliament that President Agha Mohammad Yahya Khan of Pakistan could make "a gesture toward peace" by pulling out his troops and allowing the East Bengalis to establish an independent Bangla Desh, or Bengali nation.

Trims $12 Billion From Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees have chopped from the tax bill $12 billion worth of tax-relief amendments that caused a presidential veto threat, but the conferees apparently are at odds over a provision to finance presidential campaigns with federal income taxes.

Trimmed from the bill Tuesday were what President Nixon called "budget-busting amendments" including ones providing for increases in personal income tax deductions and tax credits for ghetto businesses and for parents who pick up the tabs for their children's college education.

These, plus the campaign-financing plan, caused the White House to announce Monday that Nixon would reject the legislation if it reached him with them in it.

The only major item that remains to be agreed on by the conferees, who resume meetings today, is a controversial plan allowing individuals to earmark $1 of their income tax for presidential campaigns.

The money would go, to all parties, but it is not as badly needed by the Republicans—who reportedly have a $40 million surplus—as by the Democrats who are said to be broke.

Democrats on the committee apparently want to retain this provision.

There was talk, however, of some modifications that could escape Nixon's veto. Sources said one possible change would make it harder for minority parties to share in the financing. One main objection to the plan is that it might aid the formation of splinter parties.

The original $26-billion bill, part of Nixon's new economic program, was passed by the House in a version reportedly acceptable to the President. But Senate Democrats added the tax-relief and campaign provisions that the White House said ballooned the bill way out of proportion.

SAIGON (AP) — Cambodian forces were reported in retreat today under an onslaught of North Vietnamese attacks along Highway 6 on the north-eastern front.

Official reports reaching Saigon said the Cambodians had pulled out of Baray on Highway 6, about 60 miles northeast of Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital and were retreating from Kompong Thmar, six miles farther north.

The Cambodian government called for more air support from its U.S. and South Vietnamese allies to save the imperiled 20,000 Cambodian troops isolated in pockets along more than 30 miles of Highway 6.

In Saigon, sources described the situation as serious and said there was no reason why the United States could not provide additional air support within certain limitations. The South Vietnamese air force was reported planning to send a helicopter squadron and gunships to support the Cambodians.

The South Vietnamese incursion into eastern Cambodia was supposed to force the North Vietnamese to retreat from the northeastern front to protect bases from the South Vietnamese but there was no indication of this. South Vietnamese troops are about 50 miles east of the Cambodian front.

Ninety-six North Vietnamese were killed in the highlands of the weekend, the allied commands said, at the cost of two South Vietnamese killed and 27 wounded. Three U.S. observation helicopters were shot down, and six American crewmen wounded.

Fighting has tapered off since Sunday, but North Vietnamese artillerymen are besieging the Poley Kleng outpost 12 miles southwest of Kontum City and less than 20 miles from Cambodia. It was shelled eight times Tuesday with 60 mortars and rockets, killing one South Vietnamese ranger and wounding one.

U.S. B52 heavy bombers made more strikes in the area against infiltration routes 3 and 7 miles east of the border.

The B52s also struck north of Highway 7 in eastern Cambodia in support of the 25,000-man South Vietnamese offensive under way there since Nov. 22.

Body Identified as British Soldier

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A young man found shot through the head Monday was identified today as a British soldier, and police said they presumed he was killed by an Irish Republican Army assassination squad.

Circumstances surrounding the death of Pvt. Robert Benner were similar to those in the murder of three British soldiers March 10 in the country near Belfast.

All four were off duty and in civilian clothes. Benner's body was found on a lonely road near the border with the Irish Republic.

Benner, who was not married, was the 41st British soldier killed in Northern Ireland this year and the 165th person known to have died in the communal warfare of the past 28 months.

Police said it was believed he was somehow led to the area around lunchtime, then executed with a bullet through the brain from close range.

A 15-year-old boy was shot in the arm in the Roman Catholic New Lodge district of Belfast early today. Police said he was wearing a green jacket similar in color to those worn by soldiers.

Money Crisis Settlement Close

By FRED COLEMAN
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — The finance ministers of France and West Germany reported today that the United States and its major trading partners—the Group of Ten—are moving closer to a settlement of the international monetary crisis.

Karl Schiller, West Germany's economics and finance minister, told newsmen that a breakthrough had been achieved Tuesday night at a meeting of the finance ministers and central bank governors from the non-Communist world's 10 richest trading nations.

"We must now prepare our fields and bring in the harvest," he added.

French Finance Minister Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, one of the leading critics of American proposals for a settlement, said the U.S. position now seems "rather less inflexible."

U.S. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally also reported earlier that some progress had been made in the bargaining on a new system of foreign exchange.

Italian sources said Connally had agreed for the first time to discuss as a hypothetical question what the Europeans would want if the United States included a dollar devaluation in the package. This appeared to be the basis for the French minister's remark.

American sources confirmed that the discussions today included a number of hypothetical packages, but they would not say whether devaluation of the dollar was mentioned in this context.

Connally said after the ministers' first meeting Tuesday that they "discussed the nuts and bolts for the first time, for the first time we discussed the problems we all face in depth. Rather frank and candid speculative discussions characterized this meeting."

Aides were excluded from the sessions to prevent any leak that might set off heavy speculation in foreign exchange markets.

A communique was expected after the closing session this afternoon.

A breakthrough toward resolution of the international monetary crisis would set the stage for further progress in President Nixon's round of summit meetings in December and early January with the leaders of France, Britain, West Germany, Japan and Canada.

Conference sources said the Europeans and the Japanese rejected an American offer to drop the 10 per cent import surcharge if the other nations agreed to a schedule of upward revaluations of their currencies averaging 11 per cent.

The Europeans and the Japanese were said to favor smaller upward adjustments coupled with an American devaluation of the dollar, something Connally has repeatedly refused.

The Italian finance minister, Mario Ferraro Aggradi, warned Tuesday that unless the Americans contribute some kind of dollar devaluation to the settlement package, the Europeans may form their own regional monetary bloc that would work against U.S. interests.

House Offers 'Veto-Proof' Package

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House's package of federal campaign reforms contains new media spending limits, old financial reporting sites for congressional hopefuls and a host of loophole-sealing ideas inspired by the Senate's bill.

Calling it a bipartisan victory, the reform-seeking National Committee for an Effective Congress said of the House legislation:

"President Nixon will find it impossible to justify rejecting a measure so similar to the one passed by the Senate and repeatedly endorsed by White House representatives and Republican congressional leaders."

However, there are differences, and the Senate and House must agree on a final version before the legislation goes to the White House.

In passing the bill 372 to 23 Tuesday night, the House agreed to the Senate's basic formula that would limit a White House aspirant to $4.4 million for radio-TV ads next year. This designates 10 cents for each potential voter as the over-all limit on media spending—with no more than 6 cents of it going for broadcast advertising.

But the Senate's provisions that would clear the way for broadcast debates by major presidential contenders in 1972 and create an independent commission to monitor reports of contributions and expenditures on behalf of federal office-seekers were rejected by the House.

The debates would be the goal in the Senate's proposed repeal of the so-called equal time law for presidential, vice presidential, Senate and House candidates. The law requires broadcasters to provide equal air time to all candidates for the same political office if they have time to one. The House bill would retain the existing law.

Under the Senate bill, a six-member, bipartisan federal elections commission would be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate and would oversee compliance with campaign laws, investigate and report violations, and receive and maintain contribution and expenditure reports.

But the House decided against this approach—going instead for the current practice of having House candidates file with the House clerk and Senate candidates file with the Senate secretary.

Nationalists Cut Lead in Uruguay

(MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay AP) — The National party cut the lead of the ruling Colorado party to 9,389 votes today in Uruguay's presidential election, and the Electoral Court announced it would start on Friday to count the 70,000 absentee ballots that will decide the winner.

Official returns from the election Sunday gave the Colorados 591,240 votes, the Nationals 581,851, and the leftist coalition called the Broad Front 299,382.

The Electoral Court said it would work a minimum of six hours a day until the absentee ballots were processed. The registration of each voter must be checked.

The Interior Ministry denied reports that 38 ballot boxes were gone and obtained writ directing the ministry to confirm that all of them had been turned in.

It is the first time in Uruguay's history that a general election has been so close.

More Increases Granted by Board

BY MIKE SHANAHAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Price Commission, in its first coal industry ruling, said today coal companies can pass on to consumers only 90 per cent of their recent large wage increases.

The decision left the coal industry between the Pay Board, which approved a 15 per cent wage increase for miners, and the Price Commission, which said only a 9.6 per cent wage boost can be converted to higher prices.

Italian sources said Connally had agreed for the first time to discuss as a hypothetical question what the Europeans would want if the United States in-lines, rents on apartments, for example, may be raised to the costs of similar units in the same building or complex before the freeze began Aug. 15.

In Washington, notices have already gone out to some tenants that their rents are going up about 5 per cent.

Companies caught in the middle of special low prices when the freeze began Aug. 15 were given some help by the commission.

It said base prices used in requests for increases to the commission need not include temporary special deals or allowances if they were announced before the freeze and were intended to be in effect no longer than 90 days.

"Cents off" or "price-pack" deals were included within the definition of special deals, along with free goods or introductory offers.

Firms continuing special pricing now may stop doing so, the commission said.

On the other side of the Phase 2 control program, the Pay Board discussed what to do about pay raises for executives and ended up asking the staff for more information.

Nixon's China Trip to End on Eve of Primary

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's seven days in China will end as the presidential primary season of 1972 begins, and his mission is sure to have maximum political impact when New Hampshire voters cast the year's first ballots March 7.

Republican sources say Nixon will be an avowed candidate for a second term by the time of that leadoff primary, with his name on the ballot in New Hampshire and a pledged slate of convention delegates entered in his behalf.

Nixon is scheduled to be in China from Feb. 21 until Feb. 28. That means he will be coming home almost on the eve of the New Hampshire balloting.

It also means his journey will be dominating the news, and commanding television attention, during the peak days of the New Hampshire campaign.

The White House announced Nixon's schedule Tuesday, and Henry A. Kissinger, his national security adviser, said the February dates were chosen as the earliest time that technical preparations and all other arrangements indicated a reasonably successful outcome.

A Nixon campaign organization headed by former Gov. Lane Dwinell already has been set up to deal with the New Hampshire primary challenge posted by Republican Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California.

Nixon's political men hope to roll up a New Hampshire landslide of proportions that would end the McCloskey insurgency on opening day.

Nixon's name can be entered by others in the New Hampshire presidential preference poll, but to put a pledged slate of 14 convention delegates on the ballot, the candidate himself must give written consent.

The filing deadline in New Hampshire is Feb. 6.

Iceland Votes to Retain U.S. Troops on Base

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Three members of the coalition government's majority in Parliament announced opposition today to the threatened expulsion of U.S. forces from Iceland, apparently killing the leftist government's plan to close the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's base at Keflavik.

Political commentators said the defections produced a parliamentary lineup of 31 members in favor of retaining the U.S. presence and 29 ostensibly for expulsion. But they reported more members of the two non-Communist government parties privately oppose expulsion and may come out against it publicly.

The three defectors—John Skafansson, Bjorn Palsson and Bjorn F. R. Bjornsson—are all members of Premier Olafur Johannesson's moderate Progressive party. The other members of the coalition are the Communist People's Alliance and the Liberal Left party.

Johannesson announced after he took office on July 14 that he would renegotiate the defense agreement with the United States in order to close the base which 3,700 American troops man 30 miles south of Reykjavik. He said the U.S. withdrawal would be completed before the 1975 general election.

The base is NATO's observation post for a large sector of the northern defense ring, and expansion of Soviet forces in the North Atlantic has increased its importance.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers is scheduled to arrive Saturday to discuss the base's future. He will be en route to the winter meeting of the NATO Council of Ministers in Brussels.

Also attending the funeral from out of town were Mrs. Linnie Tidwell of Garland, Tex., and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wilburn of Dallas.

Johnny Cash Makes Film About Christ

SEA OF GALILEE, Israel (AP) — Johnny Cash is making a 90-minute feature film at Christian holy sites in Israel and occupied Jordan.

"I've never seen a movie about Jesus that I really liked," says the singer. "So I thought I'd make one myself."

Cash says he has spent $500,000 and five weeks in Israel to produce a portrayal of Christ "the man, as a real man, very human, and as a divinity—very divine."

"We show him as a boy, playing with kids, we show him laughing, throwing rocks at the water. A fly lands on his nose he brushes it away. A disciple helps him get a speck of dirt out of his eye. And so on," Cash added.

Jesus is played by a nonprofessional, blond, bearded Bob Elfstrom, Ridgefield, Conn. The other actors were recruited from among Americans, British and Scandinavian youths on hitchhike tours of Israel.

Dogged by tourists thronging the holy places, Cash frequently improvised. A Garden of Gethsemane scene was done in a cove near the Sea of Galilee.

He filmed Jerusalem scenes in a deserted Palestinian refugee camp, where the abode huts and narrow alleys have a Biblical atmosphere.

But so far, he says, "We've had a goodly share of miracles."

Cash got a storm on the Sea of Galilee the day he needed it, and a calm sea the next days. Jesus' Ascension was filmed with Elfstrom walking toward a clouded sky. As he walked, a hole opened in the clouds. "The telescopic lens turned him out of focus, and he was gone. It was beautiful."

Cash narrates and sings in the movie, and reads passages from Matthew in his rich, growling voice. He is not in the visible cast.

The "Jesus revolution," Cash says, "is the best thing that's happened to America this century ... There was a great need in the United States for a spiritual revival, because the whole country was becoming so materialistic, so consumer-product minded...."

The 39-year-old singer from Arkansas, who pioneered concerts for prison inmates and recently starred in a Western with Kirk Douglas, says his movie aims to convey the message of Christ:

"That you worship God, and that you love your neighbor."

Says Vagabond Law Needed

BOSTON (AP) — Chief Justice Elijah Adlow of Municipal Court says that if old English laws making it unlawful to be a "vagabond" and abroad in the nighttime" were resurrected, crime in the streets might go down.

In October, he said, 121 wallets were stolen in Boston's public transit system.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

THIS IS NO TIME FOR SILENCE

I only go through my husband's pockets when I must send his clothes to the cleaners. After he got home from work yesterday, I decided I'd add the sports jacket he wore to my "dry cleaning" pile. There was a big heavy envelope in his inside pocket and something made me explore, though it was addressed to him.

Helen, it was a "confidential report on divorce" in our State. About a month before, I'd seen this service advertised in a magazine for $25.00.

My husband has been unusually quiet lately, but I didn't dream anything was wrong with our marriage. I just thought he was tired. We're both 45. True, we don't talk together very much—so little that I'm afraid to ask him how and why he got this report.

Is it possible for a man to consider divorce without his wife guessing there's a problem? — SHOCKED NUMB

Dear Numb: It's not only possible, but I'd estimate that in at least one-sixth of all "older" marriage break-ups, the request for divorce comes as a numbing surprise to the other partner. This because they had stopped talking—really communicating—a long time before.

For Pete's sake, ASK your husband about the divorce report! If he spent $25.00 to get it, then his yearning for freedom is more than an idle dream, and it's long past time you found out why. —H.

Dear Helen:

How do you feel about baby-sitting fees as income tax deductions? When a woman must work, she often spends half her paycheck on child care. Isn't she just as entitled to declare this as a man is to declare his secretarial or janitorial expenses at the office? — WORKING MOTHER

Dear W. Mother:

She certainly is—and I hope the IRS soon realizes it! However, this situation doesn't apply entirely to women. I know several young widowed fathers who could also benefit from baby-sitter deductions. —H.

Dear Helen:

My husband's office gives parties almost every month, and they're closed to mates who don't work there. Here's an example: the summer outing was at a country club. It started at 10 a.m., with all kinds of outdoor games, and ended with cocktails, dinner and dancing until after midnight.

I think this is immoral and that it's unfair to encourage misbehavior between married men and female workers. Don't you? —TIED OF BEING LEFT OUT

Dear Tied:

Are you certain this is "company policy," or is it husband's policy? Very few organizations these days encourage partying without mates: Causes too much friction on the home front. —H.

Dear Helen:

I'm 23 and in love with a wonderful guy—with "morals" up to here! Before I marry him (as he has asked me), I want an affair. After all, a girl needs to be sure. But he says it's marriage first or nothing.

He's very manly, but he was brought up super-straight. I wasn't. My being a non-virgin doesn't bother him, but he refuses to settle for less than marriage, even for a night. This isn't a sex hangup so much as, just stubbornness. (I THINK.) — WHAT TO DO?

Dear Helen:

Get married! If he's willing to take a chance, why not you? —H.

Astronaut Talks With Poet

KANSAS CITY (AP) —

Apollo 15 moonwalker James B. Irwin has met with the author of a poem the astronaut carried to the moon with him this summer.

Irwin spent about two hours Monday with James D. Freeman, who wrote the poem, "I Am There."

Irwin had the poem with him July 31 through Aug. 2 when he walked on the lunar surface with fellow astronaut David R. Scott.

The astronaut is in Kansas City to speak today at the 28th annual Achievement Day at William Jewell College in nearby Liberty, Mo.

The poem, about 46 lines long, was given to Irwin by his mother. Freeman is director of religious research for Unity, a religious organization.

Hawks Trailing in NBA Central After 6th Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pete Maravich apparently isn't the only one ailing on the Atlanta Hawks. The entire team is suffering.

The Hawks' National Basketball Association record slipped to 5-17, the worst in the Central Division, when they dropped an 86-65 decision to the Chicago Bulls Tuesday night. The setback was Atlanta's sixth in a row, their longest losing streak since entering the league 25 years ago.

Maravich, sidelined with mononucleosis early in the season, has been slow rounding into form. He played 34 minutes against the Bulls, but scored only eight points. Earlier Tuesday, he had been reported out for the season by the Atlanta Journal.

Chicago's Tom Boerwinkle snapped an 83-83 deadlock with two free throws with 2:29 remaining and Jerry Sloan's foul shot with 1:27 left was the decisive point as the Bulls posted their eighth victory in nine games.

Bob Love led the Bulls with 22 points, while Atlanta's Lou Hudson topped all scorers with 30 points.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Golden State defeated Milwaukee 106-103, Seattle edged New York 110-109, Cincinnati trimmed Baltimore 118-103, Houston downed Buffalo 115-101, and Phoenix outlasted Portland 121-111 in overtime.

Golden State, playing without injured center Nate Thurmond, ended Milwaukee's 24-game home court winning streak, with the help of a balanced attack including Joe Ellis' 25 points, Jeff Mullins' 24, Cazzie Russell's 22 and Clyde Lee's 20. It was only the fourth loss in 25 games this season for the Bucks, who lead the Midwest Division by four games over Chicago.

Kareem Jabbar, the league's leading scorer, paced Milwaukee with 30 points.

Spencer Haywood's field goal with 40 seconds left broke a 107-107 tie and Lenny Wilkens' free throw 25 seconds later sealed Seattle's victory over New York, stopping the Knicks' seven-game winning string. Wilkens finished with 29 points and Haywood had 27 for the SuperSonics, who had trailed 76-50 early in the third period. The Knicks' Dave DeBusschere matched Wilkens' 29 points.

Nate Williams' 29 points and Nate Archibald's 28 helped Cin-

Injured Alabama Player Named AP Back of Week

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., (AP) — "The way I figured it," said Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama, "he could stand on hot coals that long."

Therefore Bryant sent his ace running back, Johnny Musso, back on the field Saturday for the closing minutes of the Crimson Tide's 31-7 victory over Auburn.

Musso, playing despite a painful sprained toe that had him on crutches earlier in the week, spearheaded a ball control offense that kept Heisman Trophy winner Pat Sullivan of Auburn on the sidelines during most of the battle of undefeated Southeastern Conference pow-cinnati beat Baltimore and moved the Royals to within one-half game of the first-place Bulls in the Central Division.

Guards Stu Lantz and Calvin Murphy paced Houston's balanced scoring attack against Buffalo with 18 points piece. The Braves' Walt Hazzard was high scorer in the game with 26 points.

Rookie Dennis Layton's seven straight points in overtime lifted Phoenix past Portland. Connie Hawkins and Dick Van Arsdale of Phoenix and rookie Sidney Wicks of Portland each scored 23 points.

ers. Musso, nicknamed the Italian Stallion, piled up 167 yards in 33 carries as the Tide possessed the ball for almost 42 minutes. He also scored two touchdowns and completed a pass for 17 yards, a performance that earned him a claim today as The Associated Press National Back of the Week.

"I didn't expect him to play the whole game," said Bryant, who calls Musso the greatest running back he's ever coached. "I figure he wanted to stay in there."

"I've said a lot about Johnny throughout his Alabama career but I don't think I've said enough or could say enough," Bryant added. "He's everything you could ever want in a football player and in a young man."

Bryant said Musso's performance against Auburn was "even more outstanding when you consider that he's gone almost a month without any real practice and was playing on a toe that would have kept many football players out of the game."

To win the weekly honor, Musso beat out several other players with brilliant performances—quarterbacks John Reeves of Florida, Jack Mildren of Oklahoma, Jim Erickson of Colorado State and Dean Carlson of Iowa State and running backs Jeff Kinney of Nebraska and Jimmy Poulos of Georgia.

Squires Win Over Condors in ABA Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When you put four of the American Basketball Association's top scorers on the court at the same time, watch out for some fireworks.

Charlie Scott, the ABA's leading scorer with a 33.7 average, exploded for 46 points Tuesday night as the Virginia Squires edged the Pittsburgh Condors 134-129.

Pittsburgh's two big gunners, John Brisker No. 5 in the ABA and George Thompson (No. 7), erupted for 34 and 38 points, respectively, while Virginia's rookie sensation, Julius Erving (No. 9), poured in 31.

In other ABA games, Indiana topped Memphis 114-88, Utah defeated the Floridians 127-114 and Denver dumped Dallas 106-91.

The Squires held a four-point lead at the end of the first quarter and the Condors never could quite catch up. The victory, the Squires' third straight, moved Virginia within two games of first place Kentucky in the ABA's East Division.

Indiana outscored Memphis 33-19 in the second period and coasted to an easy victory, the Pacers' fourth in a row. Fred Lewis was high man with 24 points, while rookie Darnell Hillman came off the bench and scored a pro career-high 23.

Egers Proves Valuable Trade for St. Louis

Jack Egers no longer is blue, even though he now is a member of the St. Louis Blues.

Egers had to be a disconsolate young man early in the National Hockey League season, when he was being used sparingly by the New York Rangers. Then, on Nov. 15, the Rangers sent him to the Blues in a seven-player trade—and Egers' blues disappeared.

With St. Louis, he has been playing regularly—and scoring often. The hard-shooting left wing rifled in a 50-foot slap shot Tuesday night for his seventh

Sooners Still Tops in Rushing, Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite losing to Nebraska 35-31 Thanksgiving Day, the Oklahoma Sooners remain the nation's top team in both rushing and total offense.

The Sooners, now 9-1 with a game remaining against Oklahoma State Saturday, have averaged 461.2 yards per game rushing, according to statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Services. Even if they are held to zero yards on the ground by Oklahoma State, the Sooners will finish with an NCAA-record 419.3-yard average, breaking the old record of 391.0.

If Oklahoma gains 388 yards rushing, it will become the first team in NCAA history to roll up 5,000 yards on the ground in one season.

Oklahoma is averaging 553.6 yards total offense, just under the collegiate record of 562.0. The Sooners need 647 yards total offense against Oklahoma State to break the record.

Who will be the nation's top passing team is still undecided. Florida State, which finished its regular season, is on top with an average of 250.0 yards per game. But San Diego State, in third place at 239.6, still has one game remaining. If the Aztecs, led by quarterback Brian Sipe, can pass for 355 yards against North Texas State Saturday, they'll win the passing crown.

goal in eight games as the Blues beat the California Golden Seals 5-2, extending their home ice unbeaten string to five games.

In the only other NHL game, Vancouver downed Chicago 4-2. Jim Roberts, Christian Bordeleau, Brian Lavender and Garry Unger scored St. Louis' other goals, while Ivan Boldirev and Gary Croteau connected for California.

Dave Balon and Wayne Connelly, two other ex-Rangers, each scored once for Vancouver against Chicago. Balon and Connelly were sent to the Canucks by New York one day after Egers went to St. Louis.

Four Top Teams Play Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Four of the teams in this week's Associated Press college football rankings will see action this Saturday, the final week of the regular season.

No. 1 Nebraska plays at Hawaii, No. 3 Oklahoma meets Oklahoma State, and No. 5 Penn State duels 12th-ranked Tennessee.

The Associated Press will conduct one more regular-season football poll after these games. Another poll will be taken from the nationwide panel of sportswriters and sportscasters following the post-season bowl games.

Protest Fining of Players for Fighting

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The National Football League Players Association (NFLPA) has filed a protest over fines assessed against players from the Minnesota Vikings and San Diego Chargers.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle assessed the fines after an on-field ruckus at San Diego, Calif., in mid-August.

Ed Garvey, NFLPA executive director, wrote to Rozelle objecting that the fines constituted a change in working conditions, according to Jim Kensil, executive director of the NFL.

"Pete wrote back to Garvey and asked him to submit a brief on his position," Kensil said.

Alan Page, Vikings player representative, explained the NFLPA position this way:

"The collective-bargaining agreement says that any change has to be negotiated with the Players Association. Last year sometime, the owners or the league office decided that any time a player left the bench area and went onto the field to fight, he would be fined $200. There was no negotiation on that point. We were informed after the fact."

Nebraska Guard Earns Lineman of Week Award

By TIM AHERN
Associated Press Sports Writer
LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Shortly before top-ranked Nebraska's 35-31 victory over Oklahoma Thanksgiving Day, Cornhusker middle guard Rich Glover summed up his method of playing defense opposite the center.

"I try to let 'em know I'm there real quick and make 'em know they're going to be in for a long afternoon. I don't say anything. I just look right at 'em."

Oklahoma couldn't miss Glover Thanksgiving because the 6-1, 234 pound junior from Jersey City, N.J., was in on 22 tackles, recovered a fumble, and batted down a final Jack Mildren pass to clinch the victory and the Big Eight title for Nebraska.

Glover's efforts earned him National College Lineman of the Week honors from The Associated Press for what Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney termed "as fine a defensive game as I've ever seen."

Cornhusker fans have long been accustomed to outstanding middle guards such as Wayne Meylan, Ken Geddes and Eddie Periard, but Glover may emerge as the best of them all.

Glover lettered last season as a second-string defensive tackle but was moved to middle guard in spring practice when Periard's graduation left Devaney with a hole to fill.

As one of the "black shirts"—the first string defense—Glover has been instrumental in making Nebraska's defense one of the nation's best.

A mark of the black shirt effectiveness can be seen by the fact that the goal stated by Glover of trying "to keep everybody under seven points" has been achieved eight times thus far in 11 victories.

Glover leads Nebraska in solo tackles with 42, including 13 behind the line of scrimmage for 72 yards in losses, and had 85 total tackles.

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last 10 years are still on the road.

That should tell you a lot about the cars we sell.

Every Chrysler Imperial is road-tested at the factory.

If our cars aren't right, we don't want you to have them. For example, every Imperial is put through a road test at the factory that includes over 100 different checks before it reaches you.

This year every Chrysler car offers a new optional electronic ignition system that does away with the points and condenser that can wear out. This helps keep the engine tuned longer. And a tuned engine means cleaner exhaust.

From our lowest-priced Chrysler Royal to our big, luxurious Imperial, Chrysler cars are built to last. The same is true of every Chrysler-engineered car we sell—Valiant, Duster, Cricket, Satellite and Fury.

We think that's the kind of car America wants. That's the kind of car we'd like to show you. Come see us today.

Newport Royal 2-Door Hardtop

You gotta have heart.

The quality of a Chrysler starts deep down in the heart of the car. That's where you've gotta have it. That's where you get it. With such time- and road-proven features as Chrysler's torsion-bar suspension and Torque-Flite automatic transmission. The rigid strength of unibody construction. And a 7-step dip-and-spray anti-rust process. Extra care like that is why so many Chryslers stay in great shape.

Whether you own a big or small car, pay a little or a lot, the one thing you don't need from a car is trouble. You want a car that will hold up. A car that's built to last.

Well, we're with you. Just look at this figure:

9 out of 10 new Chryslers registered in the last

10 years are still on the road.

This includes all the various owners, any kind of terrain, and numbers of miles. But every Chrysler is designed and built the way you want it—to last. So even if you won't be keeping a car for years and years, it's good to know you've got all that quality going for you in your first year as well as in later years.

WHY SHOP AT HOME?

SIX REASONS

1. You receive fast, personal service from your friends and neighbors when you shop at local stores.
2. Prices and goods are comparable to those from Little Rock to Dallas.
3. You can save a long, frustrating and dangerous drive during the holiday rush season by shopping at home.
4. All civic clubs, recreation clubs, athletic teams and other similar organizations ask local merchants for contributions year-round. They don't ask Texarkana or Little Rock merchants, who could care less. Mills Offers Own Fiscal Aid Measure

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, foe of President Nixon's revenue-sharing plan, has introduced his counterproposal: a $5.3-billion-a-year aid program for states and localities, limited to five years and retaining some congressional control.

The administration greeted with restrained enthusiasm the move by the Arkansas Democrat, who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has kept revenue-sharing bottled up.

But in Honolulu, Mills' proposal drew eager support from many mayors attending the National League of Cities' annual congress.

"I'm delighted," said Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City.

Mayor Richard G. Lugar of Indianapolis said Mills "has done something positive in recognizing the problems of the cities."

Introduction of the bill by Mills, a potential contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, virtually assures that the general subject will come before Congress next year.

Mills' formula would provide $3.5 billion a year to cities and other local governments and $1.8 billion a year to states, to be spent in broadly designated fields.

The allocation to local governments would be weighted according to the proportion of low-income residents as well as total population.

The payments to the states would be on a basis encouraging them to emphasize state income taxes in their budgets.

The program would be limited to five years, during which Congress presumably would review its operation and decide whether to continue, end or modify it.

The Nixon proposal would involve a permanent dedication of part of the federal income tax to states and localities, initially about $5 billion. The division would be based on population and tax effort, without a need factor, and there would be no strings on how the money might be spent.

Under Mills' proposal, funds for local government would be divided by states and within each state on a formula taking into account population, urbanization and the proportion of low-income families.

These funds could be used for public safety, environmental protection, public transportation, youth recreation, health and financial administration.

On Saturday night the church choir will present a special mission cantata titled, "The Greatest Story Yet Untold," directed by Bob Hand.

The pastor, Gordon Renshaw, joins the church in extending a cordial invitation.

Castro Likens Socialism to Fem Liberation

By BRUCE HANDLER

Associated Press Writer
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Fidel Castro has told thousands of Chilean women that Socialist revolution also means women's liberation.

"The revolution offers women a human role in society. It dignifies women," the Cuban prime minister said in a speech Monday night at a rally in a local soccer stadium. "But for reactionaries and fascists, a woman is simply an instrument of pleasure."

Castro has been in Chile for nearly three weeks as the guest of President Salvador Allende.

"Your must organize yourselves. You must win all Chilean women to the cause of revolution," Castro declared.

Warning his listeners of powerful antirevolutionist forces, he said: "Don't let yourselves be taken in. See their lies. Tell them: 'We don't need your little favors. What we need is women's liberation.'"

A middle-age woman holding a Castro-Allende pennant broke into tears and cried out: "Fidel, we don't want you to leave!"

Speaking forcefully and gesturing for emphasis, Castro asked what "capitalism and reactionary forces" have to offer women. "Nothing! nothing! nothing!" the audience responded.

Nomination of Butz to Senate

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As the nomination of Earl L. Butz for agriculture secretary goes before a divided Senate, the Nixon administration is stepping up efforts to make sure he is confirmed.

Butz himself launched a personal lobbying effort after settling into temporary headquarters in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's office just off the Senate floor.

The battle over the nomination has been marked by debate over the merits of smallness versus bigness in modern American agriculture.

So far, only one major agriculture organization, the American Farm Bureau, has endorsed the Butz nomination.

And, in Chicago, it was disclosed that Butz's brother is an executive with the Farm Bureau's Illinois affiliate.

Dale Butz, director of marketing for the Illinois Agricultural Association, asserted that he has no direct policy-making role in the national organization.

"There really could be no conflict of interest," he said in an interview Tuesday. "Our delegates set the policies of our organization, not the staff."

As the nominee concentrated his lobbying on undecided senators, President Nixon made plans to speak in Chicago to the convention of 4-H Clubs, composed mostly of farm youths.

The Butz controversy was considered a factor in his decision to speak there.

In the Senate, an Associated Press survey showed that as of late Tuesday up to 40 senators were prepared to vote against Butz, with 36 in favor and 23 with no declared position.

However, a close look at the list of undecided senators, based on their past voting records and party affiliations, indicated Butz was a likely winner by an extremely narrow margin.

Chairman Herman Talmadge of the Senate Agriculture Committee said he sees no signs Butz can shed a life-long philosophy of support for scientific corporate farming.

The Georgia Democrat's reservations were echoed by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who said he cannot vote for Butz, even though he considers the Purdue University dean a personal friend.

Indiana's other senator, Democrat Birch Bayh, disagreed, saying he would vote for Butz because he believes farmer discontent should be focused on Nixon.

"Senators may not agree with the personal views of the nominee—and in this particular case I find the nominee's farm policy views highly objectionable—but it is not the Senate's responsibility to select Cabinet officials or pass on their views unless there is a flagrant abuse of the public interest," Bayh said.

government has made first-class citizens of Cuban women by creating needed educational opportunities, expanding health care for children and eliminating prostitution.

"One of the most painful aspects of capitalist society is a woman forced into a life of prostitution," he said. He contended that under capitalism there is no respect for the woman as "a worker, a citizen, a mother."

The Cuban leader also hit back at Chile's conservative newspapers, which have attacked him since his arrival.

"Let them go to hell," he said, charging that anti-Communists had printed "incredible lies" about him.

McGovern Calls for TV Debate

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)

— Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., called today for a televised debate between Democratic candidates in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation presidential primary next year. In a statement released by his campaign headquarters here, McGovern said the debate should be one of a series around the nation between Democratic contenders.

He said the debates would give voters "the fullest opportunity to see us and directly compare our views."

Jury Requests More Witnesses in My Lai Trial

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The defense case is completed, but the jury trying Col. Oran K. Henderson has asked to hear at least three more witnesses whose names have figured in the My Lai coverup court-martial.

The request, made after the defense rested its case Tuesday, appeared to surprise the judge and attorneys. Col. Peter S. Wondolowski, the military judge, already had announced that he expected the case to go to the jury by Dec. 10. Summoning and recalling witnesses is a jury privilege in military trials.

Chief defense attorney Henry B. Rothblatt announced the end of his case after reading character affidavits from 18 high-ranking officers who had served with Henderson in his 30-year Army career. In the 50 days of trial, the prosecution called 62 witnesses and the defense 41.

The prosecutor, Maj. Carroll Tichenor, offered no witnesses in rebuttal.

Henderson could receive a sentence of 39 months in prison if convicted of three charges lodged against him as a result of the March 16, 1968 massacre in the hamlet. He was accused of failing to conduct an adequate investigation, failing to report allegations to higher command and lying to Army investigators.

The two generals and five colonels on the jury had asked for time to review notes each made in the trial, which began Aug. 23. After two hours, when the court was summoned for day's adjournment, the jurors asked to hear:

—Carl Edward Creswell, an Emory, Kan., Episcopal clergyman who was chaplain in the Americal Division at the time of the infantry sweep through My Lai. The chief chaplain of the division, Col. Francis R. Lewis, testified that Creswell relayed to him a report from a helicopter pilot that there was "some unnecessary firing in the village that should be looked into." Lewis said he dismissed Creswell's report because he thought the chaplain was joking.

—Fred Blakey Jr. of DeKalb, Ill., the driver-clerk for the late Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, commander of the assault force.

Blakey accompanied Barker in the period after the officer was ordered by Henderson to make a formal investigation of the My Lai incident. No such report has been found.

—Lt. Col. Henry I. Lowder, a staff officer of the Americal Division the year after My Lai, now stationed at the Pentagon. A witness, Lt. Col. Barney L. Brannen, said that when a search was made of the division files for the Barker report, he saw Lowder with a thick sheaf of documents and quoted Lowder as saying, "maybe this is what we're looking for." But Lowder, testifying here later at a hearing outside the jury's presence, said, "I don't recall any of that taking place."

Home of Late Justice Black Up for Sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three-story Georgian row house in Alexandria, Va., where Justice Hugo L. Black lived for more than 30 years is up for sale.

The 73 shelves in his corner chambers on the first floor of the Supreme Court are mostly bare.

And his "bench-notes," enough to fill more than 600 green-covered looseleaf binders, have been burned.

His secretary and his widow are busily sorting and cataloging his books, deciding where they would do the most good.

This is the aftermath of the death of Justice Black on Sept. 25, eight days after dramatically failing health forced his retirement after 34 years on the Court.

Mrs. Frances Lamb, Black's secretary since 1957, isn't certain exactly how many books he accumulated over the years, though they run to several thousand volumes.

Those he was especially fond of—the Harvard Classics, the writings of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin—will be put in a yet to be selected "special place."

Others in which he inscribed his name or made notes are likely to wind up at a university, possibly the University of Alabama in his native state, or remain in the capital at the Ar-

Soviet Mars Mission Puzzling to U.S.

By BILL STOCKTON

AP Science Writer
PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The announcement in Moscow that a Russian capsule had landed on Mars left American scientists as puzzled as ever about the mission of the Soviet Union's Mars 2 and 3 spacecraft.

They stand ready to applaud a Soviet achievement, but until the Soviets reveal more details the significance of the feat can't be assessed.

"The question is, have they landed an instrument package on Mars that is sending back data or have they just sent down a flag?" said a scientist at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory here.

The announcement Tuesday from Tass, the Soviet news agency, said that as Mars 2 passed within 776 miles of Mars on Saturday a capsule was separated from it and delivered to the surface of Mars a pennant showing the Soviet Union's coat of arms.

But the Russians gave no further information about the lander. They didn't say whether it contained instruments, or if the capsule survived the landing and was sending back data.

Nor did they say when Mars 3, launched nine days behind chives or the Library of Congress.

Of the remainder, librarians are choosing selections for the Court's own collection.

Mars 2 last May, would reach Mars.

The announcement said that Mars 2, after dispatching the capsule, went into Martian orbit and began transmitting data.

Speculation here is that an instrument package with a flag was sent to the surface, probably by parachute.

The flag, one scientist suggested, might be to salvage Soviet pride if something went wrong and the instruments were destroyed.

But if the Soviet Union has landed an instrument package, the scientists here agree, it is a significant step in the exploration of the planets.

"For everyone's sake, I hope they have landed instruments and are receiving data. If that is the case, it will be a fantastic accomplishment that we ought to take our hats off to. The entire scientific community should applaud it," said Dr. Robert Sharp, a Cal Tech geologist working with Mariner 9, the U.S. craft now orbiting Mars.

"I think they're to be heartily commended," said Dr. Carl Sagan of Cornell University, here also for study of data from Mariner 9. "Of course we want to know what sort of scientific instrumentation is on board and until we find out it's hard to assess the experimental program. But merely landing, even if there is no instrumentation is an achievement."

State Capitol Lights Go on Saturday, Dec. 4

The State Capitol Christmas lights, an Arkansas tradition for 34 years, will be turned on at 5:30 p.m. Saturday December 4, by Secretary of State Kelly Bryant. Beginning the following Saturday, December 11, the visitors will be able to view the interior Capitol decorations, which will include a 40-foot decorated Christmas tree, a 16-foot candle, and three 30-foot wreaths. The Capitol will be open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. during the week, and from 2-5 p.m. on week-ends, December 11, 12, and 18, 19, 1971. The lights will illuminate the building, the dome, and the Nativity Scene on the front steps until 10:30 p.m. each evening.

Scarlett O'Hara Waist Back on Fashion Scene

By ANN HENCKEN
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The tiny wasp waist is back in fashion.

Anyone who grew up in the 1950s remembers hitching up the Merry Widow waist pincher, making do on half a supply of oxygen, and wondering how Scarlett O'Hara managed.

You couldn't sit down because the bones dug into your stomach. You worried that your dancing partner could feel the harness-like stiffness. You took off the pincher at night to find deep red grooves in your skin.

Pauline Trigere offers a series of taffeta skirts with small vertical pleats around the waist. There is a coat to match. The skirts are flutter tucked and perfectly charming, but a small waist is a necessity for them.

The short cropped jacket is starring for spring at Malcolm Starr, and again it helps to be narrow where the jacket breaks.

At the new Pierre Cardin II sportswear line, there is a solid offering of pants and skirts with high waists. They are topped with very short matching jackets. Some gingham blouses sprout wide stand-up ruffles at the neck.

Prints often turn up in circular patterns. Trigere does horizontal stripes in white on a grey and white coat dress.

The Claudia for George Halley lines includes the same crisp neat waist in day clothes, with dresses and little jackets. But some evening styles still skim the body in one long fluid line.

Heart Pains Not Usually Sharp

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am a 17-year-old boy and seem to be very healthy. I was on the track team last year and had no problem with my body. About a year ago, I started getting a very sharp pain that seems to be right where my heart is. It only lasts a few seconds, but the pain is unbearable and I cannot breathe during the pain. If I try to breathe, the pain gets worse. These occur almost every day, usually after getting out of a chair or getting up from the table. Last night after I went to bed, I had that sharp pain in my heart again, though it lasted about three minutes. I struggled breathing. It seemed the pains would never leave. Could this be some sign of some early heart or chest disease?

Dear Reader — Heart pain is usually not sharp. Most heart diseases cause pains that are dull or pressure type pains. The sharp pains can be caused by inflammation of the pleura of the lung next to the heart or by muscles pains (small muscles in spasms) or painful ribs. The sharp sticky pains under the left breast are almost never caused by heart disease.

Pain with breathing is more suggestive of pleurisy or muscular pain. In fact, the way pleurisy causes pain is from the movement of the sore muscles between the ribs as the chest cage moves with breathing.

Anxiety, including concern about one's health, seems to aggravate some of these problems. You should go see your doctor and let him see if he can find a cause for your problem. If there is none, then perhaps you should try to get back in peak physical condition. This sometimes helps relieve such disorders — but go see your doctor first.

Dear Dr. Lamb — What do you say about giving castor oil two or three spoonfuls two or three times every day for punishing little children? I am just a grandparent and haven't any right to interfere, but I wish you would print this if it is wrong.

Dear Reader — I would say this was cruel and unjust punishment. It could set up a lifetime of bowel problems as well as do irreparable damage to the psychic of the children. Bowel habits and bowel training are major factors in personality development and I can't imagine that this would be mentally healthy. If the parents really do this, they must not appreciate the damage they can be doing. If either one of the parents is not involved in this form of punishment perhaps the involved parent should talk to the family doctor about it.

A parent who would do this might well be in serious need of psychiatric help.

Isles Seizure Brings Iraq, British Break

BEIRUT (AP) — Iraq said today that it is breaking diplomatic relations with Britain and Iran, holding them equally responsible for Iranian occupation of three small, strategic islands in the Persian Gulf.

The Iraqi government charged that Iran, "acting in collusion with Britain," had "committed an outrageous aggression against the Arab state by landing troops Tuesday on the islands of Abu Musa, Greater Tumb and Lesser Tumb."

The statement broadcast by Baghdad Radio called on all Arab governments to break ties with Britain and Iran.

Another Arab government, Syria's, demanded today that Iran withdraw from the islands and accused Britain of "treacherous collusion." But Syria broke off relations with both Britain and Iran after the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

Iraq also broke relations with Britain after the war but resumed them in May 1968.

The takeover by Iranian marines was unopposed on Lesser Tumb, which is uninhabited, and on Abu Musa, which was occupied under an agreement with its ruler, the Sheik of Sharjah. But Iran said a small police garrison patrolling Greater Tumb, where about 200 persons live, had not been informed of the occupation and opened fire when the marines landed. Three marines and four policemen were killed in the brief clash.

High School Students Plan Goodwill Drive for Christmas Needy

For the second year in a row the student council of Hope High School is sponsoring Operation: Goodwill, a project to buy toys for needy children.

Last year over 85 children, ranging in age 3 to 9 years old, were guests of honor at the Operation: Goodwill Christmas Party, with each child receiving about $15.00 worth of toys distributed personally by Santa.

Each of the four classes at H.H.S. will be responsible for raising money to be used in the purchase of the toys. Students from the classes will be carrying out several projects such as bake sales, car washes, etc., on December 4, December 11, and December 18.

A list of needy children will be obtained from the elementary schools, and the day-care center. Each child will write a letter to Santa, and tell what he or she would like for Christmas.

On the afternoon of December 23, the children will be gathered in the old gym for the Operation: Goodwill Christmas Party. The children will be served refreshments, play games, hear the Christmas Story by a local minister, and be entertained by the singing of Christmas Carols. Then Santa will arrive and deliver the toys to the children under the large Christmas tree.

Principal Whitmarsh said that he felt Operation: Goodwill "was one of the most worthwhile projects undertaken by the High School students."

Co-chairmen for the project are Mike Huckabee and Mona Rowe. Student Council advisers are Mrs. W.A. Williams, Mrs. Thomas Jordan, and Tim Strawn.

Utah Senator Hospitalized

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wallace F. Bennett of Utah has been hospitalized at Bethesda Naval Hospital after suffering a spell of weakness during a speech before the White House Conference on Aging.

An aide said Monday, however, that there is no cause for serious concern about the 73-year-old Republican. He said doctors concluded there is no reason to believe a heart problem is involved.

He added that a severe cold and a recurrence of an ulcer might be to blame.

Bennett refused ambulance transportation to the hospital after the attack of weakness at the luncheon speech Monday, but was admitted later after a preliminary examination by the Capitol physician.

North's jump to three hearts was a trifle weak even for a limit raise by a passed hand. On the other hand two hearts would be a frightful underbid and he did not feel like trying two clubs.

South's continuation to game was reasonable. He had a minimum hand but a good 5-4-3-1 distribution. No one had told him that his partner's strength was concentrated in the club suit.

West got off to the best possible lead for his side. South's use of diamonds had to be used immediately.

He cashed dummy's top clubs to get one diamond discard and it was then up to him to attack trumps. He led the 10 from dummy. East played low and South made the correct play of the king. When it held a second trump brought down the ace and while South still had to lose a spade and a diamond he was home with the bacon.

Why do we say that South's play of the king was correct? It worked this time, but wouldn't it have been better from a strictly mathematical standpoint to let the 10 ride?

The answer to this is that with unlimited entries to dummy the correct play is to let the 10 ride, but South did not have those unlimited entries. Hence South as-

Politics Charged in Aging Talks

By JOHN STOWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has been accused of playing politics with the White House Conference on Aging by using it as a forum to announce a "headline-clogging" crackdown on substandard nursing homes.

"In some groups there was quite a strong feeling about the timing of this announcement," said James G. Haughton of Chicago, a co-chairman of the conference's health section.

"Many thought it would hog the headlines and put into the shadows other health issues," he said. "They regarded it as a political ploy to divert attention from other major issues of this conference."

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson announced during a conference luncheon Tuesday that 37 states and the District of Columbia risked the loss of $3.4 billion in federal Medicaid funds unless they quickly correct "substantial deficiencies" in nursing-home certification.

Richardson said the states must submit detailed corrective plans by Dec. 15 and show marked improvements in nursing home inspections and surveys by Feb. 1, or face "a non-compliance procedure that could ultimately result in withholding all federal Medicaid funds."

State inspections of all 7,000 Medicaid-licensed facilities in the nation will be required by July 1, he added.

HEW has been working intensively on the nursing home problem since late last summer when President Nixon announced that federal funds would not be spent to subsidize substandard facilities for the aged.

Minority delegates met in separate groups today to form recommendations on how to solve their "double jeopardy" of being both old and non-white. Sessions were scheduled for blacks, Asian-Americans, Spanish-speaking Americans and American Indians, as well as for delegates concerned over such issues as blind, poor and rural old people.

Fourteen sections prepared final conference recommendations to be voted on before presentation to a general session tonight. The recommendations will be reviewed by a Cabinet-level committee and forwarded to the President.

Section chairmen said there appeared to be strong support for national health insurance, improved Medicare and Medicaid programs in the interim, a guaranteed annual income for the elderly above the official poverty level, liberalized food stamp policies, property-tax relief for the aged and retirement policies based on physical health rather than chronological age.

Addresses Kiwanians

REV. H. B. FULLER

Rev. H. B. Fuller, Baptist Pastor from Ruston, Louisiana, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting on Tuesday. He was presented by his father, Kiwanian Horace Fuller.

"Barky" as he is known by his friends who watched him grow up in Hope brought a message from 2nd Corinthians 4:4-7. He stated that America was carved out of a wilderness by hard work and deprivation, but that our people today live in abundance rather than scarcity and put great store in Social Sciences and Research Motivation.

"The Bible," he said, "emphasizes what Motivation Researchers are just now finding out."

There are some hidden persuaders with which man must deal. Sin is a hidden persuader, creeping into one's life before it is recognized. Satan is a very real but hidden persuader, leading men into things they had no idea of getting into. On the other side Jesus Christ is a hidden persuader, coming into men's lives to clean up that life and when Jesus went away to be with His Father, the Holy Spirit of God remained to persuade, to urge, to woo, men into paths of righteousness. Rev. Fuller closed his message with a plea for all men to let the persuasive power of The Holy Spirit have a large place in their lives.

In observance of Key Club Week, Nov. 29th to Dec. 4th, the officers of the local Key Club were guests of the Kiwanis Club. These officers are Steve Harris, Mike Downs, Tim White,

A BARGAIN COLT
RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) — When Will Whitehead of Del Rio, Tex., bought Mr. Kid Charge as a yearling at an auction sale here last year he picked up a real bargain.

Mr. Kid Charge cost Whitehead $4,100 and when he won the All-American Futurity for quarter horses here on Labor Day the 2-year-old picked up $200,841.62. It was the seventh straight victory for Mr. Kid Charge.

Charges Half Truths in Sheriff Trial

MARION, Ark. (AP)—The defense attorney in the embezzlement trial of Sheriff Marion Thomas of Crittenden County said Tuesday the prosecution had constructed a case based on half-truths to mislead the jury.

Vincent Skillman Jr. of West Memphis, the attorney, said in his opening remarks to the jury that "there is a group out to get" Thomas, who is charged on 56 counts of embezzlement of public funds involving $34,773.77.

"We feel the evidence will show that you have been told half-truths," Skillman told the jury. "We think evidence will show that the state has carefully constructed a case to mislead you."

Prosecutor Gerald Pearson of Jonesboro told the jury of 10 men and two women, which was seated Monday, that the state would show that the sheriff had converted to his own use funds designated to the sheriff's office.

The first of the state's witnesses, certified public accountant Clarence Johnson of Blytheville, testified about transactions that he said Thomas repaid, with interest, with $4,702 in county funds.

Johnson said that an audit of the sheriff's office showed that Thomas had repaid a $2,000 personal loan from the Bank of West Memphis in 1966 with money from the account of the sheriff and collector.

He said Thomas also drew $755 from county funds May 26, 1966, to repay with interest a $750 note from the same bank that he had deposited in his personal account.

Johnson testified that the sheriff drew $1,028 on county funds July 5, 1967, to repay two $500 notes, plus interest, he had obtained from the same bank and deposited in his personal account at the First State Bank of Parkin.

The accountant said, in addition, that on Sept. 30, 1966, a $150 note was made by Booker T. Seymour of Marion at the First National Bank of West Memphis and endorsed by Thomas. Johnson said records indicated that the final payment of $75 on the note, plus $1 charges, was made by check drawn by the sheriff on county funds April 12, 1967.

Johnson also testified about a note signed by Thomas and his wife, Victoria, on Jan. 10, 1966, for the purchase of a station wagon. Johnson said a check for $825 drawn on county funds by Thomas was used to pay the balance due on the vehicle.

Several witnesses were called by the state to corroborate Johnson's testimony about the transactions.

Under cross-examination, Edwin Arnold of Texarkana, audit supervisor for the Arkansas Division of Legislative Audits, said that accounting procedures of Crittenden County and other counties were "rather poor." He said recommendations to improve the procedures had been made.

Arnold said state auditors had audited records back to 1965, "when we ran out of records." He said Crittenden County records were poor and fragmentary, requiring some presumptions to be made. He also said

Family Dinner

Mrs. Mary E. Smith of 820 Berry Street-Hope, was hostess at the annual Thanksgiving family dinner of the Smith family, on Thanksgiving Day, 1971.

Those attending were: James E. Smith and family, Milton Smith and family, Charles Bradley and family all of Chicago, and Mrs. Martha A. Jeffery of Decatur, Illinois.

Engagement Announced

PAMELA CHEATHAM
Mrs. Helen Cheatham, McNab, announces the engagement of her daughter, Pamela, to AIC Herbert Winfred Jones of Texarkana.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Saratoga High School, Saratoga. She is now attending Texarkana Community College, Texarkana. The groom-elect is a 1970 graduate of Arkansas High, Texarkana. He is now stationed at Carswell AFB, Fort Worth.

A December 12 wedding date is planned at St. James Baptist Church in Texarkana.

Funerals

Funeral service for Mrs. Beulah Hale of Prescott, will be held at the Macedonia Baptist Church, Prescott, Thursday, December 2, at 2:00 p.m. The body will lie in state at the church tonight (Wednesday) from 6 o'clock until funeral time. Burial in Washington Cemetery near Prescott. Hicks Funeral Home of Hope is in charge of arrangements.

Arthur Nash of Fulton, passed away in a Hope hospital November 30, 1971.

He is survived by thirteen children: Oatho Nash, Voyage Edward Nash, Mrs. Hannah Moore, James Edward Nash, Mrs. Mary Ellen Nettles, Mrs. Earnestine Holmes, and Miss Althea Nash, all of Omaha, he had not questioned the sheriff about the matters because Thomas had been hostile.

"We couldn't get the information from the records, but the chain of documents tell the story," he said.

"Isn't it true that you just got as much information as you wanted for an indictment and quit?" Skillman asked.

Arnold answered that he did not make a check of Thomas' journal and accounts receivable ledgers because "you couldn't tell anything about them."
